

Health and safety & the work environment

We have a zero-injury approach and the key objective is to ensure that all our staff and those affiliated with our projects remain safe.

Increased safety awareness has been firmly established with our employees and we are continually making progress.

We focus on health, personal and operational safety and show concern for people and the society we live in. We create a positive, accident-free workplace where everyone feels welcome and are committed to preventing accidents, deaths and illness. We are individually responsible for our own safety and understand the safety, health and workplace risks that accompany our activities. We use known methods to identify, assess and control risk, and if the work is not safe, we find a safe way.
